a precedent which threatened the subversion of republican liberty.

Gen. The temptation to a military candilate to use the sword to scenre his own election is too great, the warnings of history too impres-sive, for the American people ever voluntari-ly to consent to so hezardous an experiment. As a companion piece to this Republican portraiture we give the following picture of the same subject by Garrett Davis. We take it from his latest speech in the Senate:

e President and Congress have not outragesistance to their flagrant aboses and nanrpa very, so that it could never be restored, bu moving with increasing energy and boldness toward the other as their now paramount object. They affect to adhere to the forms of the Constitution, while they niterly disregard not only its spirit but also its express provisions and all the liberty and pro-teotion which it assures to the oilizen. They have devised the boldest and most revoluand recomptorily refused to allow himself to be elected for a third term; and his decision truished a precedent which had all the force executive administration as the machinery of and ber admission into the Union in paloable violation of the Constitution, so admitted and avowed by many of their leaders both in and out of Congress; and attempted to be justified by them on the ground that the constry was in a state of rebellion and revolution, and the Constitution of no obligation whatever. The President took the official opinion of the Attorney General, which was that the measure was without constitutional anthority, and yet he approved if.

After the congressional elections in the full of 1002 it was apparent that if those which were to take place in other States in 1853 were to be decided by the free suffrages of their people, Mr. Lincoln and his party woold be in a minority in the present House. The success of their projects and the retention of power by them made it necessory that they should have the mejority in the Honse as well as in the Scanto. He therefore ordered the military authorities to interfere and overthrow the freedom of elections, and to depose the State laws and officers for conducting there in Missonri, Kentucky, Maryland, and Delaware, to the extent of securing a majority Delaware, to the extent of securing a hoj prity for him in the House. In that way four supporters of the administration were returned from Missouri, of whom three have been reported by a Republican committee to be sent back to the people on account of such interference, and in the other no contact was made or the returned member. In the First District of Kentucky the military ine and loyal Union man, solely because he teschings of Jackson, in violation of the opposed the accition measures of the Presiden great principles which underlie our Democratant his party, and so managed the election by to institutions, and in the face of the solomn excluding large numbers of legal voters from warnings of history, can now so wield his the polls, all over the district, as to return a ict there was such a general interierence by uring the election, as to leave but little doubted the returned member was chosen by the perciou of that power. That vote by counties would give them a very n and unconstitutional weight over the ple of the other States in the p deutial election. I take it for true that these illegitimate States, being the progeny of Mr. Lincoln, will support him when and where and anyhow they can. They will elso be reedy to vote for this proposed amendment of the Constitution.

But Mr. Lincoln is a cautious and far-seeing man. He has a detail eaction against the section. man. He has hed still enother provision mede, first and mainly for his own parsenal success, subordinately for that of his party. The Territories of Colorado and Nevada have already, at the present session, been admitted

I have heard of no special increase in Nebraska, but have learned from men living in the other two Perritorics that there has been considerable ecent emigration into both. But from all he information that has reached me, I have no belief that their aggregate population is as much es 127,000.

Thus ty military interference at elections, the destruction and reorganization of States, the admission of new States with but a small fraction of the ratio of population, all by In fraction of the Coastitution, and in opposition Lincoln, a great and dangerous strength has been accumulated to him as President, to be exercised to promots his own selfish and am

THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1864.

We republish In the Journal of this morning General Burbridge's Order No. 28 embodying the order of General Grant in respect to disloyal practices in Kentneky. The order deserves the careful attention of all in authority as well as of the people.

Among the robel letters found at Meridian and Kosciusko in Mississippi by General Sherman during his late expedition was one from the Rev. J. L. Pettigrew to his brother and sister. Mr. Pettigrew is the Chaplain of the Thirty-first Georgia Regiment, and remained hehind with the wounded of his regiment, when General Lee retreated from Pennsylvania into Virginia, after the battle of Gettysburg. The letter in question was written at the Camp of Gordon's Brigade, near Orange Court House, Va., on the twenty-first ot last November. Here is the writer's account of what he learned while in the North, which although we bslieve ws have published it before is deserving of republication:

I learned while North, that we have no friends there; it any at all, so few that they can be of no beuefit to us. There are two gient parties there, viz: the Dsmocrats and Republicans. These both are in favor of osecuting the war, and will be satisfied with thing short of our complete subjugation Irdaid, our entire subjugation they are both resolved on. The only difference between them is us to the policy of conducting the war. The Democrats oppose bitterly Ahs Lincoln's emancipation policy, and will never note with him while he pursues it. They want the war waged to restore the Union. They want it want on what they term constitutional principles and I am firmly of stitutional principles, and I am firmly of trinion that the Democrats are the most for-midable enemies we have. If they were to get in power North, it would only be a renewal of the wer, and all its past bloody seems and horrors. The best thing for us will be the continuation of the Republican Admin-

Mr. Pettigrew clearly made good use of his eyes and wits during his stay in the North. He learned the trnth, and has pretty fairly told it, in which last particular at least he has the advantage of a good many people of greater opportunities, though doubtless of greater temptations also. Mr. Pettigrew is right in what he evidently learned; but he is not scrupnlouely right in his account of it We mean he is cvidently not altogether candid. He is right in saying that the rebels have no friends in the North worth speaking of; that both the Democrats and Republicans are in favor of prosecuting the war; that the Democrats want the war waged to restore the Union; that the Democrats are the mest forbest thing for the rebels will be the continuetion of the Republican Administration. In the defendant or defendants have adhered to and supported the constitutions of the United the rebel capital inso many directions, while it all this Mr. Pettigram is gight, but its and the complied with the constitutions of the United the Constitution the constitution of the United the Constitution the Constitution that the constitution the constitution that the constitu tion of the Republican Administration. In all this Mr. Pettigrsw is right; but, in adal this Mr. Pettigrsw is right; but, in adal the James river, or from the west through the James river, or from the west through the James river. to tell; namely, that the Democrats, by which name he denotes the conservatives of the thing ehort of the arbitrary subjugation of nor accept anything farther than simple submission to the constitution, deeming all else revolutionary, and franght with destruction to the liberties of the people North as well as South. This truth Mr. Pettigraw has not told: nav. he has impliedly told the contrary. He is as to this point gullty not merely of uppressio veri but of suggestio falsi. Yet the th with which he thus deals is that for the lieve them of the enormous expense of their claration and maintenance of which the armies and impose it upon the loyal States conservatives are denonnesd as but they are unattainable. Their proposed traitors by the Republicans from Maine to Oregon. He most have learned it first of all.

Why did he not tell it with the rest? The reason is plain. And thereby hangs a tale as Mistress Quickly says. He was afraid o its effect upon the Senthern people, whom he doubtless anticipated that his account would the Constitution. He shrunk from proclaim ing that the great conservative party of the North demands nothing more. He feared to confess the whole trnth. Mr. Pettigrew wishes the rebellion to succeed; and, while he could not in common prudence withhol the truth that the North is a unit in favor of peace on the hasis of the Union of the Contitution, because the two truths combined nust operate as a powerful dissussion against the further prosecution of the rehelion. H accordingly intimated that the North is a unit n favor of the despotic subjugation of the war. The tendency of the case as thus presented is manifestly to good the Southern people into the energy of despair, which is exactly what the rebel leaders want to effect, as it is exactly what the Republican party is helping them to effect. The Republican party ie nadeniably a unit in favor of the otic subjugation of the South. It is this act which invests the rebel leaders with rcsistless power over the Southern people. The spell with which the rebel laaders are now holding the Southern people is spoken by the Republican party. The weapon with which the rebel leaders are now trying to beat out the life of the government is put into their hands by the Republican party. Such is the actual relation between the armed assailants of the government and its lawfully appointed guardians. The rehel leaders certainly know what they are about. And we are inclined to believe that the Republican leaders know what they are about. We have been accustomed 'o the field of Gettysburg. Then lst them pro-are beginning to look upon them as conecious moon each other as such and to avow the opinion. Certain it is, that, if they are not be jerked off. conscious traitors, they are unconscious traitors of the worst possible stamp. They are consciously or unconsciously playing into the wands of the rebel leaders with a vigor and desperation that render the destruction of the government between the two a mere question It is for the people to determine at the ballot-box in November whathar or not the government shall be left longer to the marcy of these allies in the work of national ruin and dishonor. Mr. Pettigrew discloses the strength and hope at once of the Union and of the rebellion. The strength and hope of the Union lis in the conservatives. "I am firmly of opinion," he says, "that the Democrats are the most fermidable enemies we have." The strength and hope of the rsbellion lie in the Republicans. "The best thing for us," he declares, "will be the continuation of the Republican Administration." Lovers of the Unionl choose je hetween those whom the rebels themselves pronounce their most formidable enemies and those to whom in the hour of extremity the rebels turn as their

A correspondent of the New York World who writes from Baltimore under the signature "D:uid" is either a first-rate guesser or he has facilities for obtaining information frem Richmond and the rebels gen erally which would render him an invaluable acquisition to the staff of the Lisntenant General. The general policy of the rebels which he attempts to explain is known, but the minuts defails which he gives lead to the impression that he has a pocket attachment, like John Morgan's operator, which he can at his convenience fasten to one end of the grapevine telegraph. He tells us, what nobody will pretend to deny, that it may be set down as a fixed fact that the defensive system of warfare, as a governing principle, has been abandoned by the South; that an invasion of he North at two and perhaps at three points will form a preminent feature in the campaign; that a determined ffort will be made to transfer the seat of war to Northern seil, and to fight decisive battles north of the Potomac and Ohio rivers. All this has been stated before, and was generally known, but "Druid" goes ioto the penetralis and lets us know that the o'estacle to the adeptien of the nsw policy has not been on war the part of the masses in the Confederacy, who are tired of the desolations of war, but emanated from influential leaders, among whom Jeff. Davis and Generals Johnston and whom Jeff. Davis and Generals Johnston and rise, aid, or essist any such person or person to injure, arrest, kidnap, or otherwise many such person or person to injure, arrest, kidnap, or otherwise many such person or person to injure, arrest, kidnap, or otherwise many such person or person or person to injure, arrest, kidnap, or otherwise many such person or perso ully discussed at recent military councils in lichmonds the result of which was entire unanimity in favor of aggressive operations. The arguments in favor of the policy were: 1. That it would be the most effectual manner of defending their own cities, for that, with one Confederats army operating in the interior of Pennsylvania and another in Ohio or Indiana, it would be impossible for the Union forces to advance agnirst Richmond er, Atlanta, or indeed to invade the Sonth at any oint; but that, on the other hand, it would make it necessary for us to keep the bulk of our forces at home for the defence of our own ics, and particularly for the defence of

2. That it would relieve the South of the euormous expense of the maintenance of their armics and impose that expense upon the North, while it would enable the South to draw supplies of grain, flour, clothing, and, above all, of borses, ad libitum, from their en-

3. That the three great objects to which the attention of the Union armies would be di-ceted this yeer would be Richmond, Atlanta, and Cherkston; that the fortifications of Richmond and Charleston were such as to render those places practically impregaable, even if defended by only ten thousand troops at each point; and that, with such a country as that between Chuttarooga and Atlanta, twenty-five thousand Confederate troops could hofile the advance of seventy-hvc thousand Unionists for six months.

4. That, even allowing seventy-five thou-and troops for the defence of menacod points in the South, and tor operating against advancing columns of Union troops, the Confederales would still have two hundred thous and rccps wherewith to invade the North. These embrace nothing more than the acuating motives to which we have niready referred, but they afford confirmation of the desigus of the rebele, for meeting and countermining which we hope our military authorities will have everything in readiness. The effective force of our armies was never larger than at present, our soldiers have acquired the experiencs of veterans, and our Generals the capacity to command. We can concentrate troops nearly as rapidly as the rebels are enabled to threaten particular points. The assignment of the most trusted officers under Grant to important positions is an evidence that there will be preconcert of action nlong the whole line, from the Atlantic to the Mississippi. General W. F. Smith in command of the forces on the Yorktown Poninsula, Shermen and Thomas in Georgia and Alabama, and Meade in person on the Potomac, will soon strike a blow which must make the rebellion Georgia, the Confederates will have to look | who has taken the so closely to their own safety that they will hardly be able to plan aggressive movements. If all our armies move at once Richmond must fall, and probably without any serious battle. This would compel the Confederates to adopt a new line of defence and cut off the main roads of transportation between their right and left wings. The pregramme of operations laid down by the rebels would be very admirable if it could be carried out, but it is utterly impracticable. They look with greedy impatience at "the supplies of grain, policy will be foiled whenever and wherever its execution is attempted. The letter from Lexington which w published yesterday contains the following remark touching Dr. Breckinridge's latest speech in that city: "With regard to the poition and action of Governor Bramletts, it was quite impossible to determine whether the Doctor intended himself to be understood as condemning or indorsing; but the whole tenor of his remarks suggested to some present the idea that he was baiting to entice the Gov. ernor into the radical ranks, and yet to leave im with jast as lit'le influence there as possiridge's remarks were doubtless mistaken. The enstruction is indeed somewhat unjust to Governor Bramlette, whose position as between conservatism and radicalism is not a matter of doubt to anybody and least of all to Dr. Breckinridge. Governor Bramlette not mere ly rejects radicalism but abhors it as the twin vil of secessiooism; and this Dr. Breckinstruction in question is plainly erroneous. Though Dr. Breckinridge is not a wise or ssgacious men ho is quits too rational to waste his energies in baiting a radical hook or a book of any other description for Governor Bramlette. Patriotic, self-relying, brave, high-spirited, and enlightened, Gavernor Bramlette is not one to be hooked by fishers of men.

We can suggest an explanation of the alleged ambiguity much more consistent with robability as well as much more respectful o Governor Bramlet e. If our correspondent is not mistaken in regard to the effect, it was cansed no donbt by a very natural desirs on the part of Dr. Breckinridge to deprecate the wrath or the justice of a man whose confidence he had vio ated in order to defame him.

The Committee in the Honse of Ren resentatives on the Conduct of the War say that Gen. Meade did not fail in his duty on look upon them as political madmen; but we ceed at once to drag before the nation's blistering gaze the anthors of the elanders that traitors. They are in fact beginning to look were published against him. If epaulets are borne by naworthy shoulders, let them

Exciting Race ann Captuae .- Lieutenant Vanpelt, of the 17th Iudiana regiment, who was in command of the detachment of troops sent to Bardstown on Sainrday, retorned to the city yesterday afternoon with two prison-Trs in charge. Their names are Mitchell and Lyen, and they cleim to belong to the 8.h Kentucky rebel cavalry. They state that they deserted the regiment during the Morgan raid last snmmer, and have not been connected with the service since. But it is the opinion of the military anthorities that they have been serving in guerilla bauds in the State, and belong to the thieving gang that made the late raid into Shelbyville. Lieutanant Vanpelt was riding at the head of his detachment, and, on entering Blcomfield, threa monnted men, in butternut enits, spurred their horses to their mettle and dashed madly down the road in an upposite direction. The siro. So plenty is the trash through the Con-Lieutenant at once gava chase, but, on startirg, his Lotse became frightened, and, hounding over a woodpile, threw the rider violently bale. Eight hundred millions of this worthagainst a frame building. The Liantenaot less issue have been practically repudiated wes stunned, but mounted his horse again by the laying of a tax of 100 per cent upon a and followed in rapid pursuit. Being better large part of it, and 33 per centupon the remounted than the men of his detachment, he soon distanced them, and at the end of ten | swallowing the whole. The minority of a miles, with a sedly-jaded steed, he found him- | committee of the rebel Congress recently reself close upon the heels of the pursued, hat | Ported to that body that the Confederata curalone, his men being far to the rear. rency had depreciated two thousand per cent. Finding he could not overlake the guerillas without a fresh horse, he quickly dismonnted on the 8th inst., was more destructive than at in the front of a farm-yard, and, leading a first reported. The store-house of Mr. A.S. spirited animal from the etable, soon girted Robertson was set on fire in the first and the saddla to its back, and was speeding on third stories, and, notwithstanding all efforts, after the fleeing horse-thieves. A two miles it could not be subdued until ten business rnn brought the pursuers and pursued face to honses, all brick, on Main street, north of the face, and, presenting his revolver, the Lieu- one in which it originated, on Puplar street, tenant commanded them to surrender. Two were consumed. The loss was $75,000, on of the perty complied with the demand with- which there was an insurance of $22,800. out a show of resistance, while the third, The houses were occupied as follows: Zack | years. whose high-mettled steed still appeared to be McBrayer, dry goods, groceries, and liquors; fresh, dashed into the woods, and succeeded A. S. Robertson, dry goods; W. F. Bohon, iu making his escape. Varpelt started back dry goods; F. G. Matheny, dry goods; T. M. toward Bloomfield with his prisoners, and Cardwell, hats, caps, and shoes; S. Bunton, soon met a portion of his detachment. They touroing-house; Drs. Sparks & Rose; J. L. returned to Bardstown in the evening, and, Smedley, drugs and books; Brown's shoe with the cool of blood and excitement, the stere; Brownold, jeweller; Levy & Co., cloth-Lientenant found that the injuries of his fall | ing; and J. A. Foster, dry goods and grocer were so great as to prevent him from remaining in the saddle, so, leaving his detachment th the officer second in command, ho took he morning train for Louisville, and arrived hero in the same car with his prisoners. The bold, daring ride of Licutenant Vanpelt, of the 17th Indiaua regiment, outrivals the wild, dashing feats of the crowned heroes of knightly days, and smacks of romance almost too thrilling to be real. But, the trnth of the statement being established beyond a question, we must yield tu facts, and crown the Lientenant as one of the most dashing heroes of the war. The two guerillas are now confired in the Military Prison.

In Capt. Walcoti's court several cases were tried yesterdey. John Stone, company | next week. H. 2d O. H. A., and Amos Williams of the same company and command, were separately arraigned and tried on tha charge of desertion. The case of Franklin Rhodes, company G, 2d O. H. A., was then presented and disposed of. H. was charged with conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, and disrespect to a superior officer-Lieut Davidson was arraigned, when the bardy in the last century, and sold to Mariacourt acjourned until ten o'clock this morn. | Caroline of Austria. It contains engravings ing. His case will be resumed to-day. In the court of which Capt. Grant is Judge posed of more than two hundred volumes. In dvocate, Wm. J. Sharpneck was arraigned and tried yesterday. The cases of Samuel Wilson and John McCarty, postponed from Monday, will be resumed to-day. ty-five convalescents and recrnits were received at the harracks yesterday. Two deserters arrived from Indianapolis and four from Philadelphia. W. if. Everbart, company K, 17th Kentucky regiment, was arrested in Lebanon a few days ago, and yesterday forwarded to the city under gnard as a deserter. Uriah Wardruff, company D, 2d Kentucky cavalry, and four soldiers belonging to Indiana regimente, were arrested in Jeffersonville yesterday forenoon, charged with desertion. the morning one hundred convalescents tragglers were forwarded to Nashville. and twenty furloughed men to Lexington. Thirty-five prisoners were transferred to Nashville, one deserter to Russellville, one to Bowling Green, and one to Munfordville.

Edmund Denhard, a small lad, age i about twelve years, whose parents reside on the lower part of Walnut street, was shot last down Walnu!, when, ho says, some man fired a pistol at him. The ball entered his abdomen and inflicted a mortal wound. Shortly after being shot he was found lying upon the | drawers each, and fourteen cabinats of twenty pavement, and carried to his home. The drawers each. night was rather dark, and he was nable to recognize the man who fired the pistol. Why a defenceless hoy should thus be shot down on the street, wa are unable to determine. If the act was a deliberate one, as it appears to be, the villain should be ferreted out and recoive the full benefit of the law. Young Denhard was not expected to live last night. meut of Messrs. A little wife wall willed, A little house well filled, A little farm well tilled. sea shore. His farm would then be the whole oatinent. From time to time we publish the results of farming on a moderate scale, and they are always satisfactory to show that it pays much better to spend money and labor on a small farm, and get the most out of a little, than to work a wider crea, and leave it half done. The principle is the same in almost every kind of business. Anything worth dong is worth doing well. And the great profit in honest industry is to be found in making the best possible use of what we nudertake. If a man werks at a trade it will be found, in the long run, that it will pay better to make a good article than to tarn out a greater amount of inferior work. We asked a barness-maker, last week, if he used a sewing machine in his work. "No," enid he; "just as soon as it was known that I put that kind of work into my harness my business would begin to run down" He would do tho best kind of werk, and less of it, and in tho end would get better pay. Semo men, with a large capital, can manage a great farm und make it prolitable, and this stimulates men of less means to spread themselves over more surface than they can cover to advantage. They find, to their sorrow, that is is not the amount of land they work, but the amount of work on the land, that And this is just one of the last lessons that a farmer will learn. And so it comes to pass that many a man drugs through life till ho wears bimself out, and his wife out, and dies worth little or nothing more than he was when he begun, and all his trouble springs from the fact that he has been trying to do too mach, to manage too much land, and he found, by expending the description of the land will tilled?" would

By taking a safficient namber of culled grapes for a pressing, and 'working on time,' we can extract a portion of the juice nearly colocless, of course giving but a slight essure to the grapes and ceasing when too uch color is given. The small amount of racted by the process from the skins, and the oulp of the grape dissolved away; the skins a the meantime rise to the surface, making an air-tight covering to the juice, which at the proper seas n has become clear at the bottom of the cask. A faucet is then introduced into the cask and the major portion of the juice drawn off; the balance is taken to press, where the remainder of the juice is extracted. That which is drawn off is haer flavored than that which is pressed. Only a portion of the juice can be made into white wine; rather less than

SPRING PLOUGHING.—The labors of seed time always crows the farmer, so the earlier the plough begins its work the better. On soils of a sandy and porus character, ploughing may best be done as soon as the frest is ont of the ground. Where clay predominates, or soils rich in linmus, the action of the sun is needed for several days. It is very had to plough clay around too wet, and all that surface and under drains can accomplish will not do away with the necessity of the drying northwest wirds and clear weather "looked for west winds and clear weather "looked for about these days"—though draining often makes a diff rence of weeks and even months in the time the land is fit for the plough. In ploughing, what for spring grain, turn it flut and deby, so that the harrow or seed-drill will not distubit. If manure is to be ploughed under on old ground, bury it with a shallow for remaining the form of ground to be sowed with wheat, ont, or barley may well be spread in the furrows behind the plough, where very nice work is to be done. When land needs liming—and before a crop of wheat, a dressing of limits often of great service; sow the lime b foro ploughing, ra her than to be substquently barrowed in. Back furrowing is practised by many good couplet—no, a triplet—has as much good farmers to prevent the accumulation of a mass sense in it, and is quoted by the New York of rich soil against the fences. This is don: by marking out the lands, of course as large as possible, and throwing a couple of light fur-rows together through the cen're and then The Observer says the great mistake which our farmers make, East and West both, is in undertuking to cultivate too much land. It the first turned furrows do not go to the end of the first turned furrows do not go to the end of the field, at the proper time the ploughman undertuking to cultivate too much land. It seems that more the land n man has the more he wante. When Farmer Dobson was charged with this covetousness he denied it, and said he wanted only the land that joined on his farm. But when he got that, he found that more joined on, and more yet, and he was likely never to be satisfied till he reached the sea shore. His farm would then he the whole FINE FLOWER SLEDS -Ladies are often troubled to obtain a selection of flower seeds that afford them satisfaction. To such we offer the following suggestions: offer the following suggestions:

1. Get some experienced flower-grower to select for you only such seeds, from one of the best seed stores, as are of the best qualities.

2. After that gather your own seed; only he careful to follow the following directions Never to permit a single or semi-double Aster, Balsam, Ziania, &c., to remain a moment in your grounds to blossom, after it has opened its first thower petuls sufficiently to discover its character; for if you do, all your seed will probably be hybridized so as to be single and worthless. To be sure the double flowers produce hut few seeds, but these may be increased by pulling out a few petals from the centro of the flowers.

It certainly requires a bold hand to pull up twenty fine Aster plants, because they hlossom singlo when there are only five double ones left; but this is the penalty exacted at first for the raising of good seed. After you thus raise pure seed a little time, your scells will soon produce, nearly all, double flowers, and benutiful beyond your expeciations, so as amply to compensate you for your care and cultivation. Cut out and keep this for your guide. You must get your seeds now or soon, and remem-
